HARVEST LABOR SHORTAGE REACHING CRITICAL STAGE

With winter ready to roar down from the north country, Alberta farmers are watching skies and fields with more than usual anxiety in this year of critical labor shortage.

Clear across the prairies, farm jobs are going begging at wages of $7 a day and found, or $1.25 an hour. In Winnipeg alone, there were 1,400 vacant farm jobs and no workers to fill them. In Saskatchewan the situation was very bad, and an accurate appraisal was not possible at the time of going to press.

Thirty years ago, as many as 40,000 workers passed through Winnipeg each harvest season—many from the east, some from Europe. This year, only 400 have arrived.

Alberta's farm labor director, with the department of agriculture, Fred H. Newcombe, says this province could use 4,000 to 5,000 workers. So far he has been able to obtain only 200 from the east. But he added that early warnings of the impending shortage have sparked Alberta farmers with traditional initiative and they are contriving to get by with the available supply of home and hired help. Wives and daughters are deserting kitchens and classrooms to drive farm trucks and sometimes tractors, and thus release men and boys for other harvest labor.

The greatest ally now is time, with the added need of good weather. Given these, Alberta's men and women of the farmers will once more pitch in and harvest the bounty of providence from our fertile land.

tinuous line, awaiting the cleaning and priming, coating and wrapping operations, following which the pipe will be lowered into the ditch. On the east side of the creek the 40-ft. lengths of pipe are strung beside the ditch, waiting the line-up crew and welders. — (Trans-Canada Pipe Lines Photo).

CNR Head Thanks Good Samaritans

EDMONTON — While a fire raged through the Alberta Pacific elevator at Meanoek last May 9, Jared Brown and his son Nelson saved a loaded Canadian National Railways grain car from destruction by moving it from the fire zone without mechanical aid.

As an expression of the CNR's appreciation of their action, Donald Gordon, chairman and president, has sent each an engraved gift and a personal letter of thanks.

In his letter to Mr. Brown, Sr., Mr. Gordon said: "I can fully imagine the difficulties you faced with the car brakes set and the fire burning in the immediate vicinity. There is no doubt that the actions of you and your son saved the company a considerable loss and I cannot commend you too highly for this unselfish service to the CNR."

Hanson Publishes Municipal Book

Publication of Dr. Eric Hanson's new study of local government in Alberta is important at this time of interest in the taxation problems of the municipalities.

Dr. Hanson in his summing up says the municipalities are necessary as governmental chore boys, and also as training schools for citizens in the democratic process. He concludes by stating that "much of the revenue collected by the province virtually belongs to the local governments they have been delegated by the province to perform certain chores. The question then reduces itself to deciding how much is to be paid annually to the localities."

Thus is settled the contentious debate which was initiated by Provincial Treasurer E. W. Hinman last Session, when he advocated "a new deal" in provincial-municipal relations. Dr. Hanson is an expert on taxation and local government. His opinion should be of value.

The earlier parts of his new work deal historically with the settlement and organization of community life in Alberta. Local Improvement Districts, municipalities and urban centres, the later moves to enlarge these administrative areas—all receive close attention. Economic and political developments, growth of the fiscal grant system, the establishment of counties and current problems all are dealt with in this timely work.

It is noteworthy that Dr. Hanson has been made a member of the new Municipal Corporation, which will supervise municipal financing in the revamped local government picture now emerging. Every municipal, school or hospital official should study this book. So should every student and every ratepayer. Credit is also due to the Dept. of Municipal Affairs for encouraging and endorsing the work.

Jasper National Park, Alberta, is the largest national playground in North America, with an area of 4,200 square miles.

Home Hints

Listen, Ladies:

We've got some good news. Have you had trouble buying a pattern that fits you? Then you'll be glad to know that the pattern companies have standardized sizes with a new set of measurements. Every woman or girl who has had to alter patterns and rip seams before a dress fits, take note. In the new pattern sizes you'll probably be fitted better than ever before. All pattern companies are using the same measurements, even if some of the envelope charts aren't up-to-date yet. So now, before you buy another pattern re-take your measurements. Find your correct size in the new measurement charts located in all the pattern books. Forget your old size number and see how these new sizes affect you.

By comparing your measurements to the charts you'll find out what figure type you are. Half sizes fit the short and full waisted type under 5'4" tall. Misses' sizes are average, while junior misses' are geared to the smaller flatter figure. Teen sizes are made to fit teen proportions. So for a better fit and fewer headaches in sewing choose your correct new size.

When taking your measurements hold the tape measure snugly but not tightly around your body. And be sure to wear good foundation garments when you're measuring. The measurements you need to know are bust (hold the tape measure around the fullest part of your bust); waist (taken at the natural waistline); hip (fullest part of hip, usually 7" below waist) and the back waist length (from the prominent bone at the base of your neck to waistline).

Don't add for extra room to move around in; the pattern designers will do that for you. Clothes should neither be tight nor droopy, but just the proper amount of natural ease. One of the easiest ways to achieve this is using your correct pattern size.

Good manners are made up of petty sacrifices.—Emerson.

GOVERNMENT TO RESTORE EARLY ALBERTA CHURCH

EDMONTON — The provincial government will spend $5,000 to restore the historic Roman Catholic church and mission site at Dunvegan in the Peace River district, following an order-in-council passed Tuesday.

It also was announced that the grave of Henry Fuller "Twelve Foot" Davis, near Peace River town, has been declared a provincial park and Alberta historical site.

The old log church at Dunvegan, deserted and neglected for many years, was started in 1883 and finished in 1885 by Bishop Grouard, one of the earliest missionaries in the area.

The grave of "Twelve Foot" Davis is on a hill overlooking the confluence of the Smoky and Peace rivers. Officials of the provincial parks board said Wednesday they plan no improvements at the site, but that setting aside the area of two acres was merely a formality.

Loses Life When Trapped In Car

HUGHENDEN — James Riddell of Edmonton, branch manager of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., met death when trapped in his car, as it overturned in a water-filled ditch about three miles north of town while on his way to Wainwright on Wednesday last about 5:30 p. m. He apparently applied the brakes suddenly for a deep mud-hole across the road, and the vehicle went out of control landing upside down in the water.

John Koroby and Owen Neehaus, employees of Farm Electric, were the first to notice the car. They were travelling in a truck built with a winch John, who is always noted for offering assistance to stranded motorists, decided since no one was around he might as well lift the car out, and while doing so discovered the body trapped in the car. Mr. Riddell was beyond help. The RCMP were notified.

TWO HILLS — On Wednesday, Aug. 29, at 2 p. m., the official opening of the new wing of the Two Hills Municipal hospital took place.

Gored By Bull, Man Recovering

A Rockyford farmer was gored and trampled by a bull last week and then managed to stagger nearly one-half mile to his truck and drive for help.

Albert Epe, who runs a farm about five miles northwest of here, is in Calgary Holy Cross Hospital suffering serious wounds to his chest. His condition was termed "much improved" Monday night.

Epe apparently heard one of his cows bawling in a nearby pasture and went down to investigate. As he was herding the animal back into the pasture, he was attacked by the bull in the field.

He was gored and thrown into a mudhole where the crazed bull trampled him. Epe got up again and was knocked down and trampled a second time. Then the bull lost interest in the nearly-unconscious man and walked away.

Epe, bleeding from the chest, somehow reached his truck and then his home. He was rushed to Calgary by Starr's Ambulance.

The Calysmen Club is a group of Catholic laymen dedicated to promotion of better unity and understanding among Catholic laymen.

This is the second year that the contest has been held in Banff, after several preliminary Oratorical contests took place in Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Drumheller, Fort Macleod and Calgary. The 11 contestants were competing for the Calysmen Club Trophy and a $250 scholarship which must be used for further education. Scholarships to attend the College, in the value of $600 were contributed by the Catholic Youth Federation of the Calgary Diocese.

Snow Comes Early

REDWATER — Early risers on Sunday of this week were a little perturbed to see those old white feathers drifting down from up above. Although they didn't last too long once they hit the ground, they certainly didn't make anyone's spirits rise too high.

Housewives rushed out to harvest their gardens and farmers just took it all philosophically as always. However, everyone is hoping that it will warm up again soon so that the crops that are swathed can be combined without too much damage to the grain.

Escapes Injury In Freak Accident

VEGREVILLE — While returning from visiting her daughter, Mrs. Ron Williams, Vermilion, on Wednesday night about 9:30, Mrs. Ray Holloway and son, Dale, escaped a serious accident by a miracle. A horse and a cow had fallen from the rear of a truck and were on the highway. Mrs. Holloway, driving west on a curve, saw the cow in time to slow up, but an eastbound car, travelling at a faster speed on the same curve did not see the cow in time to avoid hitting her and throwing her into Mrs. Holloway's lane.

Mrs. Holloway came out of the fracas with a dented fender only. The other car was damaged and the horse received two broken legs from falling out of the truck and cow died instantly.

Ducks Damaging Grain

Redwater RCMP detachment have issued one permit to date to a farmer north of Radway to shoot ducks which were damaging grain which was stocked in a field.

However, farmers north of Smoky Lake report that the northern ducks have not started to come in yet, but the local ducks are doing enough damage by themselves.

The duck hunting season does not open in this district until September 12.

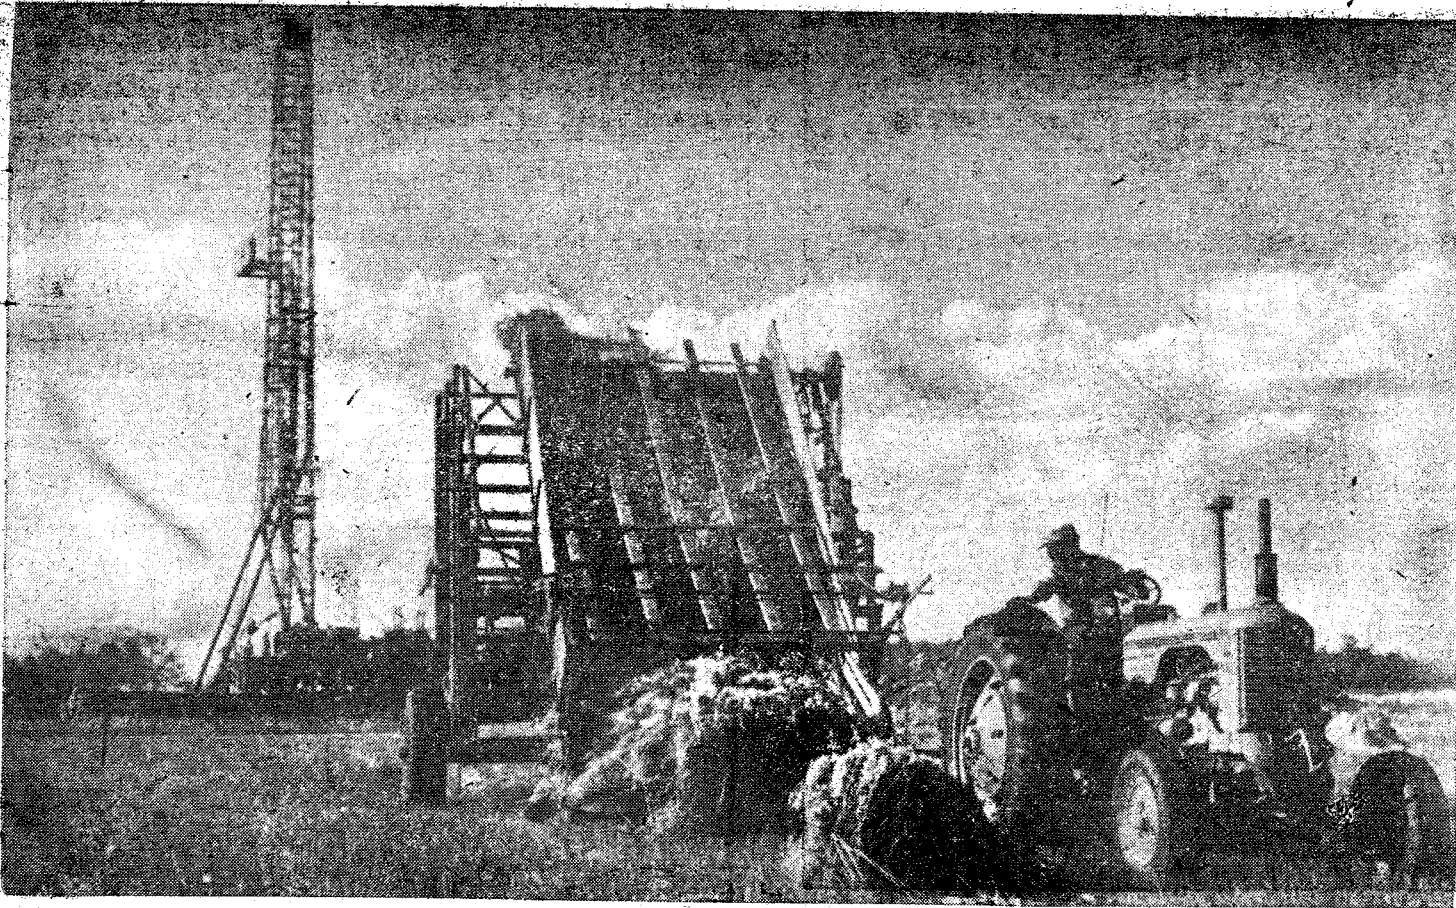

Drilling Successful

Bill Chrajcko, drilling for water at Morecambe School, got a good flow at 175 feet. "Mac" Paulchuk of Musidora, school trustee, supervised the work. The school will have another room finished in time for school. This room was moved in from Derwent.

No Objections By Dominion Heads To Re-Location Of Civic Airport

The federal government will not interfere in Edmonton's plans for the civic airport and the city fathers may either leave it in its present location or move it elsewhere. But, it was pointed out by R. L. "Dick" Hanna, M.P. for Edmonton-Strathcona, this week, Edmonton may net $6,000,000 by making a change.

Mr. Hanna was commenting on the fact that in a year or so, the Crossroads city will have three airports — civic, military and international. He pointed out that during the war emergency, millions of dollars was poured into the civic airport to provide needed accommodation. He had been informed the plant was worth about $7 million and a new airport in a new location could be built for about $1 million.

He added that it was considered a necessity that Edmonton continue to maintain a civic airport, even with the facilities of Namao and the projected Strathcona airport in the area.

Mr. Hanna revealed that a start will be made on construction of the Strathcona airport next spring. Architects and draftsmen are busy on the blueprints and contracts will be awarded during the winter. "It will be one of the world's finest airports when completed," Mr. Hanna said.

The port will cover an area of 16 square miles between Ellerslie and Leduc, and will be equipped to accommodate the biggest planes flying today, and those projected for the future.

"If plans mature, it will likely be provided with three parallel runways and other facilities which will tend to consolidate Edmonton's position as the aerial crossroads of the world," Mr. Hanna said.

He pointed out that no abnormal haste will be evident in the construction of the airport. The Transport ministry has arranged for planes on the long distance runs to use Namao when necessary. And in view of the present inflationary trend, a curb will be maintained on all types of construction until the economy is back to normal. But work definitely will be started next spring.

If it gets down to the dollar bill, the friends who step aside and exhibit graciousness usually are allowed to exhibit it.

Urges God Be Consulted On World Affairs

An audience of 502 listened to Mr. C. E. Hepworth, Watchtower official from Toronto, discuss "Consulting God in World Affairs", Sunday afternoon, Sept. 2.

Mr. Hepworth, feature speaker to the three-day training program of Jehovah's witnesses, declared that many world powers have come and gone, and none of these have consulted God in world affairs. The similarity of previous world powers with present day rulers was emphasized.

Showing the necessity of consulting God, the speaker referred to the failure of two world wars to bring about peace, and made direct quotations from prominent men, such as Mr. Churchill, to show how conditions need a higher power than that of man, to settle them.

Rev. 21:1-5 states, "Look! The tent of God is with mankind. He will reside with them, and they will be his people. He will wipe away every tear from their eyes, and death will be no more." Have you ever seen a world government that could destroy death? Mr. Hepworth asked. "Almighty God promises to do so. Certainly then consulting Him is of utmost urgency."

The speaker further pointed out how that all the major prophecies have been fulfilled in this generation, except Armageddon. "Armageddon will be the worst thing to hit the earth; Jehovah's New World will be the best thing for mankind," he stated. To prove this, he quoted such prophecies as Isaiah 11, where the lion will lay down with the lamb and a little child will lead them, and man will learn war no more.

This forceful message was the climax of a three-day convention of Jehovah's witnesses, which was held in the Central Masonic Temple. There was a total aggregate attendance of 1,324 persons, with 158 volunteers in 20 different departments which helped to make

200 Army Girls Complete Training

EDMONTON (BUP) — Some 200 members of the militia of the Canadian Women's Army Corp arrived in Edmonton recently aboard a CPR train from Calgary. They were returning from a 14-day summer training camp in British Columbia.

The girls, mostly non-commissioned officers, have completed the camp and are qualified for promotion.

The group was commanded by Capt. C. Truesdale of the Western Army Command in Edmonton.

Moose Lodge Elects Officers

EDMONTON — Edward Nelson of Camrose was elected grand governor of the Alberta Moose Lodge at the close of the group's 11th annual convention here. About 300 persons attended the two-day meeting.

Other officers elected were: Junior grand governor, Ralph Bartram, Ponoka; secretary-treasurer, John McDade, Hillcrest; sergeant-at-arms, Stan Bartram, Taber, and inner guard, C. Fountaine, Medicine Hat.

LOURDES PILGRIMAGE CURED ME, SAYS RED

NICE, France — A French Communist who was partly paralyzed in a fall last spring said Tuesday he was cured by a pilgrimage to the shrine of "Our Lady of Lourdes."

Louis Olivari said that the cure had restored his faith in God and that as a result his former Communist comrades have turned against him.

Olivari told the French daily Paris Press that his entire right side, including his arm and leg, was paralyzed after a fall in the Nice hospital where he worked as an electrician.

He said the doctors at the hospital, where he was chief of the the seminar a success. Delegates attended from as far away as Calmar, Star and North Battleford.

One of the regular features of these three-day programs was a baptism service held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. Four women and two men were baptized out of the four congregations in the city. This feature not only means their personal dedication to their God, Jehovah, but also, before the eyes of God and men, means their ordination as a minister.

The beautiful movie, "The Happiness of the New World Society", was seen by a jammed-out hall of 641 persons. Interjections of "Isn't that beautiful!" and "What harmony and happiness" were heard throughout the hall when European conventions of the great magnitude of 107,000 persons attending at Nuremberg, was flashed upon the screen. Beautiful settings in Northern and Southern Rhodesia, Central Africa, displayed preaching fellowship that permeates the New World Society of Jehovah's witnesses.

Communist cell, said they were unable to do anything for him and that he never would be able to work at his trade.

After two and a half months of unsuccessful treatments, Olivari said the hospital chaplain urged him to make a pilgrimage to the shrine at Lourdes. Olivari said he scoffed at the idea: "No, I don't believe in anything, why should I get mixed up in that comedy?"

But Olivari said that he finally decided to go. He said he reluctantly plunged into the icy waters of the grotto.

He said he suddenly felt faint and was dragged from the water. He said he found he was able to walk normally and that he was able to use his right arm again.

Doctors said that if Olivari suffered from a neuro-muscular disorder, the shock of immersion in the icy waters of the grotto could have cured him.

FOOD SCHOLARSHIPS

Students interested in food service training may apply for a scholarship offered by the Alberta Hotel Association. Mrs. R. A. Denny, head of the food service department at the Provincial Institute of Technology and Art will receive applications for registration now.

The graduates of 1956 are just about now finding that life in the schoolroom was pretty nice, after all.

Aged Pensions To Non-Citizens

Canada's old age pension regulations do not require that recipients become Canadian nationals, so long as they fulfill all other requirements of residence in the country and have reached pensionable age.

This was stated recently by R. L. Hanna, M.P. He explained that Canada has always encouraged immigration and has drawn on the skills and training of many people from other nations—some of whom pay taxes and perform their jobs efficiently, but have a sentimental attachment to their own land of origin. "Since we have enjoyed their contribution to Canada, we feel we should leave them free to choose whether they will become Canadian citizens," he said. "Meanwhile, if they qualify otherwise, their old age pensions are assured."

Alberta Youth Wins Writing Contest

EDMONTON (BUP) — An Alberta youth has won top honors in a national short story contest.

Rudy Wiebe of Coaldale, a student of the University of Alberta, won the writing contest, sponsored by the National Federation of the Canadian University Students, with his "Midnight ride of an Alberta Boy".

Wiebe, who graduated from the U of A this summer, intends to study at the Mennonite Brethren Bible College in Winnipeg. He is currently writing historical notes on Alberta's agricultural development.

The short story contest was judged by Dr. F. M. Salter, University of Alberta; Prof. E. A. McCourt of the University of Saskatchewan, and William Mitchell of High River, Alta.

Collect Royalties On Christmas Trees

EDMONTON (BUP) — The Alberta government has announced it will begin collecting royalties on Christmas trees for the first time.

The government "decided to go into business too" because of the great number of trees imported into the province from British Columbia.

Only balsam fir may be cut and persons planning to cut trees for sale must obtain a permit from the lands and forests department.

Bright Suffers Shoulder Injury

EDMONTON — Half-back Johnny Bright suffered a dislocated shoulder Monday when he tackled Winnipeg quarterback Buddy Leake, Eskimo coach Frank (Pop) Ivy said Tuesday.

The former All-American from Drake University in his third year with Eskimos, will be out "for at least two weeks," Ivy said.

Bright left the game in the first quarter and didn't return to the lineup.

Polio Cases Total Three

Edmonton has recorded its third case of poliomyelitis this year.

She is a 28-year-old woman living in the west end.

Last year there had been 34 cases of polio reported in a corresponding period.

The National Parks of Canada now cover more than 29,000 square miles of wonderfully scenic territory.

ALBERTA WEEKLY Newspaper publishers have taken the spotlight this year in executive positions in the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association. W. Drayer of the Wetaskiwin Times is president. Directors include K. Patridge, Camrose Canadian and B. P. Knowles, Fort Saskatchewan Record. Here the association's managing director, W. E. Telfer, and his assistant, Wyn Allison are shown holding a sign that boasts 533 members of Canada's weekly press association.

Edmonton Firm Wins Calgary Contract

A contract for the supply of cast iron fittings for the water works department was awarded by the city council to Norwood Foundry Ltd., Edmonton, at a meeting Tuesday.

The decision was made only after two previous motions were defeated.

Ald. D. F. McIntosh moved to award the contract to Riverside Iron and Engineering Works Ltd. of Calgary.

The Calgary union firm tendered $10,516.05. The Edmonton bid was 12.2 per cent lower.

Supporting his motion Ald McIntosh said, "The Edmonton firm is a non-union and tremendously anti-labor organization which pays despicable wages in a very prosperous province. I certainly would not support a city contract going to a sweat shop."

Ald Grant MacEwan countered, "The only criterion that should guide us in our decision is the one of the dollar."

Ald. K. I. Lyle asked, "Have you evidence that this company operates a sweat shop?"

Ald. McIntosh said the wages had been divulged by Robert Scott, president of the Alberta Federation of Labor and were verified by the company through Ald. P. N. R. Morrison.

The motion was lost 7 to 6.

A motion by Ald. Morrison to table the matter for two weeks to obtain additional information was also lost.

Motoring Dogs Won't Get Sick

Add to outmoded phrases: sick as a dog.

The otherwise healthy dog who becomes nauseated by car travel may now motor in comfort. Just slip him a bonamine tablet one hour before setting out on a trip, says William C. Flynn of Montreal.

Developed specifically to control nausea and vomiting brought on by motion sickness, the new medical preparation aids dogs as it does humans. From 12.5 to 50 milligrams of the medicine usually gives protection for up to 36 hours, says

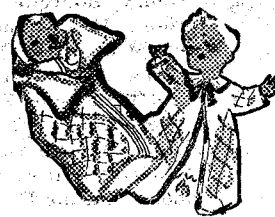

Mr. Flynn, a dog lover, a pharmacy graduate of the University of British Columbia and an officer of Pfizer Canada.

"Some highly excitable dogs begin to drool even when watching the family get ready for a car trip, knowing that they will be forced to drive with their master. Usually this reaction and subsequent distress can be completely banished for a full day with a single dose of bonamine," says Mr. Flynn.

EDMONTON City solicitor Alan McDonald says a by-law is being prepared to allow operation of parking meters for 24 hours a day in the turn around at the municipal airport.

DISTRICT AGRICULTURIST NOTES

By J. S. LORE

Central Alberta farmers should be aware of the possibilities for increased forage production through the use of reed canary grass.

This grass is a perennial with a creeping root system which produces a dense sod under favorable conditions. In tests at the Lacombe Experimental Farm and the Athabasca Sub-Station, Canada Department of Agriculture, it has been equal to crested wheatgrass, slightly superior to intermediate wheatgrass and slightly inferior to brome in winter hardiness. The forage produced is somewhat coarser than that of brome, with many broad leaves, and stems often six or eight feet in height.

Observation and limited testing throughout the central Alberta area indicate that reed canary grass is quite widely adapted. It is particularly well adapted and recommended for areas subject to prolonged periods of flooding as it will grow and thrive in water for at least seven weeks. Successful stands have been obtained at the Athabasca Sub-Station on swampy, partially burned over peat and at the Leslieville illustration station on degraded blackland. Its use on peat has not been fully investigated but there are indications that it may prove to be well suited to this type of land once established. While not generally recommended for use on "dry land", reed canary grass has yielded surprisingly well at the Castor and Metiskow sub-stations in comparisons with brome and crested wheat.

Establishment of new seedlings will probably be most successful if seeding takes place in the fall after freeze-up or in the spring after flood waters have subsided.

Reed canary grass may be used for either hay or pasture. It is somewhat inferior in quality to some of the other grasses as hay but if cut before growth becomes too advanced it will provide a nutritious and palatable feed. New seedlings should be cut for hay for the first few years to allow the plants to form a dense sod before pasturing. Grazing should be of such an intensity as to prevent the grass from becoming coarse and unpalatable to livestock.

Numerous low-lying areas exist throughout all of the soil zones of central Alberta. Reed canary grass is well adapted to such land and might well be used to replace the less desirable grasses and weeds found in such areas.

Bouvier of Egg Lake. Father McGrane officiated. Miss Yvonne Langevin presided at the organ and special music was rendered by the choir.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a floor-length gown of white satin styled with a dropped waistline, net overskirt and lace top, with lily-point sleeves. Her fingertip veil of net was held in place by a coronet of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and pink roses.

Miss Marie Duban, sister of the bride, was maid-of-honor and chose a floor-length gown of champagne taffeta, with a small hat to match. Misses Elsie Kuch and Lorraine Bouvier, as bridesmaids, were gowned in yellow and blue net over taffeta with hats to match. Their flowers were cascade bouquets of carnations and roses.

Groomsmen were Wilfred Bourassa, Davis Langevin and George Lukasiwisch.

Following the ceremony the wedding party were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lobay for the wedding breakfast. At noon a dinner was held at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Bouvier for the wedding party and relatives.

At the reception in the Memorial Hall, Lac la Biche, more than 300 friends gathered to honor the happy couple. The bride's mother received her guests becomingly gowned in a grey silk dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of red roses. Mrs. Bouvier, mother of the groom, chose a grey suit with white accessories. Her corsage was red roses also. The bride's table was centred with a beautiful three-tiered wedding cake. Father McGrane proposed the toast to the bride, to which the groom responded.

At the wedding dance held that evening, the music was supplied by the Thorhild Rocky Ramblers.

After a honeymoon, spent in Banff and Jasper, the popular couple will make their home in Lac la Biche.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included the bride's grandfather, Mr. Louis Gowalko, Mr. Alex Gowalko, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hrycun, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Senjuk, all of Thorhild; Mr. and Mrs. Demetis Luchkiew, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Melnyk, Mr. and Mrs. John Andrushiaus, Westlock; Mr. and Mrs. John Lukasiawichs, Tofield; Mr. and Mrs. John Duban, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Gowalko, Spruce Valley; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gowalko, Leduc, and Mr. George Gowalko, Valleyview.

Says...

"THE EARLY BIRD
GETS THE WORM AND EARLY ORDERS GET FAST DELIVERY."

Even if you don't like worms... it will pay you to be an early bird and order your supplies of Gasoline, Oil and Greases, heating oil, etc., well ahead of time.

Because... when we get a last-minute order, and the roads are bad for a few days... sometimes you'll run a bit short before our truck can get through to you.

So... it's a good idea to play safe. Call us ahead of time for top quality Imperial Esso Products. We'll guarantee to keep your fuel tanks filled... keep your tractor running and your stove burning. We deliver free of charge, too.
